

About Us

The West London School of Islamic Studies (WLSIS) was inaugurated in May 2007 by Shaykh Dr Ridhwan Saleem. Our Mission is simply to be a place of Islamic learning for students of all abilities.

Our teaching is that of Ahl al-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah, a teaching that has been preserved through the generations in an unbroken chain of transmission from one teacher to the next.

Our principal teachers have spent many years studying the sacred knowledge with some of the world's leading scholars.

It is our hope that Allah the Transcendent and Exalted accepts our efforts, purifies our intentions, and makes WLSIS a centre for authentic traditional Islamic learning and spiritual guidance in the UK.

What We Offer

We offer a range of classes at various levels which are open to students of all ages and abilities.

Our students vary from those who simply wish to learn the principals of Islam (such as basic doctrine and rules of purification, Quran-recitation and prayer), to those who wish to study further and become imams, teachers, scholars or competent in inviting others to Islam.

Term Fees (12 weeks)

Arabic: £150

All other classes: £40, unless otherwise stated.

WLSIS Student Pass: £25 per month. This entitles students attend unlimited courses (excluding Arabic), with a 50% discount on our Arabic courses!
